LAND SETTLEMENT

CANADA

WHERE TO GO
FOR ADVICE

Issued by Authority of Honourable Robert Forke,
Minister of Immigration and Colonization,
Ottawa, Canada, 1928.

A Helping Hand in Canada

---

SETTLERS from another country, arriving in Canada, are often in need of a little friendly and disinterested advice. This may apply to locating land; the price which one should pay for land, stock, implements, or supplies; the crops most suitable to different districts; the best methods of farming, as established by local experience, etc. On all such points it is a great help to be able to turn to some one who knows and who can be depended upon to give honest advice.

The best place for most new-comers to turn for such advice is to the representatives of the Dominion or Provincial Governments. These men are selected for their particular work on account of their special qualifications for it. They are paid by their Governments for giving service to the settlers, and there need therefore be no hesitation in calling upon them for advice.

For the convenience of new settlers the Department of Immigration and Colonization of the Canadian Government has compiled the following list of Government Representatives in each of the provinces. Call upon or write to the one most convenient to you.

A list of the offices in each province, of the Employment Service of Canada, a nation-wide system of employment offices, operated by the Provincial and Dominion Governments, is also given. The Employment Service of Canada is for both men and women in skilled and unskilled occupations and no charge is made for services rendered.
